Yukon Quest Day 3 Update from Pelly Crossing

February 7, 2011 (Whitehorse, Yukon and Fairbanks, Alaska) –Two hundred and fifty miles into the 1,000 mile Yukon Quest race, the competitive field is taking shape.

Hugh Neff (8) is running about an hour in front of the pack.

Following him by about an hour is the trio of Hans Gatt (13), Ken Anderson (18) and Wade Marrs (15). This trio is staying at the checkpoints for rests before moving down the trail.

The second trio consisting of Sebastian Schnuelle (11), Brent Sass (22) and Josh Cadzow (16) are leap-frogging the first trio because they are taking their longer rest stops outside the checkpoints and blowing through.

Within a half hour of each other is another clump of racers: Dallas Seavey (3), Kelley Griffin (1), Michelle Phillips (4), Allen Moore (24), and Dan Kaduce (10).

Mike Ellis (5) came into Pelly Checkpoint, on his own, about two hours later.

Denis Tremblay (2) scratched in Carmacks.

Still to arrive in Pelly Crossing are Johannes Ryhg (6), Didier Moggia (7), Tamara Rose (12), Kyla Durham (14), Jody Bailey (17), Hank DeBruin (19), Jerry Joinson (21), David Dalton(23), Allen Dennis(20), Christine Roalofs (9), and Clint Warnke (25).

Stay tuned for more of this exciting race. The Yukon Quest will provide daily updates. The race will finish in Fairbanks the week of February 15-19th.
